Clarification

At the skipper's briefing on Sept. 5th the Chairman of the International Jury made a statement that could be misunderstood.

For the purposes of deciding when a boat crosses the start line or finish line it is only the hull –that is taken into account.
Bowsprits are not part of the hull.

For the purposes of deciding an overlap the boat's hull and equipment in normal position (including a bowsprit in normal position) is taken into account.
